

Red Drive Roars Nearer Shanghai

By FRED HAMPSON
Shanghai, May 14. (P)—The Red drive today thundered nearer Shanghai, which listened anxiously to the ceaseless din of artillery fire.

Nationalist lines were bent back on the crucial Woosung front, 20 to 25 miles northwest of Shanghai. Woosung's fall would cut off all escape from the metropolis by sea.

Government troops fell back to second lines of defense. They were fighting stubbornly. Heavy reinforcements were rushed up.

The Red tide also curled nearer Shanghai on the southwest, threatening to engulf Lungwha airport. This is the city's last air link with the outside.

Communist progress appeared slower on this front. The Reds were believed to be about 15 miles south of the city proper.

(Pilots previously reported seeing small arms fire only 10 miles from the airport. Either this was a minor flash or the garrison was refusing to concede the Communists were that close to Lungwha.)

The garrison communique said the defenders on the northwest were forced back on the Kunshang, Taichang, and Kiating salients. Kiating is 18 road miles west of Woosung. The communique asserted the Reds suffered 1,000 casualties.

The U. S. navy continued to run its landing craft ferry down the Whangpoo river to Shanghai from Woosung. Two U. S. destroyers are anchored at Woosung.

Despite the Red lines closing on Shanghai, there have been no evacuees lately to the waiting navy ships.

Commercial planes still landed and took off from Lungwha airport. Standby planes were ready to fly out key personnel.

The air in Shanghai was full of rumors. One was that 100,000 Red troops from Manchuria had joined the battle before Shanghai.

This seemed unlikely. The Manchurian armies of Gen. Lin Piao have been concentrated north of Hankow, the big city in central China.

Port Huron, Mich., May 14 (P)—Tomboyish Shirley Heath, 21, was freed yesterday on a murder charge in the fatal shooting of a Fair Haven dairy bar proprietor.

The slim, blonde factory worker broke into tears after a circuit court jury acquitted her of complicity in the holdup slaying of Mrs. Lillian Boyd, 63.

The 13-member jury will hear further argument today against her companion, Robert L. Barry, 21, alleged triggerman in the February killing.

The court verdict for Miss Heath was directed by Judge Fred W. George. He ruled that the prosecution had offered no evidence of her guilt.

She had claimed she did not know that Barry planned a holdup of dairy bar where Mrs. Boyd was killed. It was alleged that she drove the getaway car.

The trials of the two young people, who met while in a hospital together, had run concurrently until Judge George directed the acquittal.

In order for her to be freed, both the prosecution and the defense had to waive the technicality of 13 jurors. At murder trials, 13 talesmen are chosen, in case one should become ill.

The extra juror usually is dropped before the case is turned over to the jury. Because the case against Barry still is to be completed, this could not be done Friday.

Doctor and Wife Testify Next In Stabbing Murder

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 14 (P)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., of St. Louis, and his pretty blond wife will testify probably early next week in his murder trial.

The state completed its case yesterday before court adjourned until Monday morning. It used 40 witnesses and five days in presenting its case.

Defense Attorney Walter Barngrover in his opening address to the jury said Dr. Rutledge would tell the court what happened in a Cedar Rapids hotel room where "Only God and Dr. Rutledge" knew what took place.

The 28-year-old baby specialist is accused of the knife-slaying of Byron Hatman, 29, St. Louis aircraft specialist in a hotel room fight here last Dec. 14. The defense contends that Hatman last July "seduced and debauched" Rutledge's wife, Sydney, 23.

Sea Lamprey Study Gets Approval Of House Committee

Washington, May 14 (P)—A bill authorizing a study of the sea lamprey in the Great Lakes today had the approval of a house subcommittee.

The study, according to Rep. Potter (R-Mich.), sponsor of the measure, is aimed at eradicating the fish parasite.

The bill also would authorize a study to determine the most suitable localities in the Great Lakes area in which to establish fish hatcheries.

The house group also approved another Potter proposal, for the construction of a $50,000 fish hatchery for experimental purposes on the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

VOICE FOR VOICE?—Known to millions of Russians as Kira Petrovskaya of the Moscow Theater, Russian bride Mrs. Elliot Shirk, of New York, volunteered to broadcast over the Voice of America. She wants to "tell the people of Russia the truth about America." Married in 1946 and in this country about two years, Mrs. Shirk added, "this is paradise." State Department officials are considering her offer.

Communist Eisler Remains Fugitive

Scotland Yard Agents Board Polish Ship

Southampton, Eng., May 14 (P)—The Southampton tender returned today from the Polish steamer Batory without bringing Communist Gerhart Eisler to British soil.

The tender was nearly two and a half hours overdue. This indicated there had been protracted negotiations aboard the Batory between ship officers and a Scotland Yard inspector sent to get Eisler. The tender reached here at 3:25 (10:25 a. m. EST.).

A special court session was called for this afternoon apparently in the expectation that Eisler would be brought ashore from the Polish ship in which he fled New York.

Legislature Votes Funds For Straits Ice-Breaker Ferry

Lansing, May 14. (P)—A $2,500,000 appropriation to start construction of an ice-breaker ferry for the Straits of Mackinac service was included in an appropriation bill which passed the house yesterday.

Upper Peninsula legislators have been pushing for the new boat for the state-operated ferry service for at least two years.

The house ways and means committee, which recommended the appropriation of half the estimated cost of the boat said it would recommend appropriating the second half next year if the senate approves the plan.

The money, to come out of earmarked highway funds, was included in a bill appropriating $87,324,565 out of restricted funds for highway, aeronautics and conservation purposes.

Estranged Husband Kidnaps Baby Son From Coloma Home

Coloma, Mich., May 14. (P)—A young mother today awaited word of her baby son, taken from her parents' home Friday by her estranged husband.

The husband, Neil Spencer Reynolds, 29, is believed to be enroute to Owensville, Ky., with the child, Elmo, one year old. The couple lived there until a quarrel two weeks ago.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds, 20, the mother, said her husband followed her here Thursday. Shortly after noon yesterday, she told sheriff Erwin Kubath, he grabbed the child and ran to a waiting car.

She identified two men in the car as relatives of Reynolds, the sheriff said.

After conferring with the prosecutor's office, Kubath said there was no cause for official action.

Friendly Couples Share In $55,000 Port Huron Estate

Port Huron, Mich., May 14. (P)—Two couples who befriended him are the beneficiaries of the $55,000 estate of Peter F. Lown, 98-year-old widower.

Lown, who died last week, left his savings to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Appley, of Emmett, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burns, of Memphis.

His will specifically ruled out a nephew from benefiting in the estate, and no mention was made of his seven cousins.

Cigarette Smuggler Held At Coldwater

Coldwater, Mich., May 14. (P)—State Police today are holding Clyde E. Scott, 26, of Detroit, on charges of illegally transporting cigarettes into Michigan.

They discovered that Scott had 103 cases of cigarettes in his truck after they stopped him for speeding near Jopescue. His cargo was valued at $5,000.

Damage In Holland Tunnel Truck Blast May Reach Million

Bulldozers Clear Debris For 46,000 Vehicles

By ARTHUR EVERETT
New York, May 14. (P)—Bulldozers scraped through deep ooze and matted wreckage today to clear the blast-seared Holland tunnel for its daily load of 46,000 cars and trucks.

A big truck, rolling towards New York with a cargo of chemicals, blew up Friday morning. It spewed fire and poisonous gas through 300 feet of the traffic-clogged tunnel.

However, the tunnel was expected to be ready for normal operations by late this afternoon. Damage may total $1,000,000.

Minor explosions and small fires hampered workmen throughout last night but added little to the already severe damage.

Repairmen said 250 feet of the tunnel's inner ceiling would have to be replaced.

Sixty-six persons, mostly firemen and tunnel workers, collapsed or staggered groggily from the tunnel's smoke-fogged depths during a five-hour battle with fire and fumes.

Twenty-six were taken to hospitals with burns or gas poisoning. None was reported in danger.

Death Fumes Removed
A priest, the Rev. Fr. John Shields, was one of several clergymen who went in to aid the injured. He gave the last rites of the Catholic church to five men during two hours inside. All lived.

"It was awful in there," Father Shields said as he came out.

Experts said only the 84 powerful blowers in the walls kept gas fumes from building up a blanket that might have turned the tunnel into a deadly gas chamber.

The evil-smelling, yellow fumes were drawn out and replaced by fresh air before they cost any lives.

Firemen wore gas masks or oxygen helmets as they braved the smoky, steaming semi-darkness in relays.

At least 23 trucks rumbled to an abrupt halt in bumper to bumper confusion as a mushroom of fire signaled the explosion. They were sprayed with flaming chemical and damaged or destroyed.

The intense heat fused some of them together, melting their metal.

Hungarian Cardinal Reported In Mental Collapse At Prison

Rome, May 13. (P)—The Vatican radio yesterday quoted the Italian News Agency Astra as saying Josef Cardinal Mindszenty has suffered a mental breakdown in a Hungarian prison. There was no confirmation of the report elsewhere.

The Cardinal was convicted in February of treason, espionage and black market currency dealings by the Communist-controlled Hungarian government. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Astra's story quoted a doctor, now in Vienna, who said he attended the Cardinal at the order of the Hungarian government. He said Cardinal Mindszenty was in "desperate condition."

Astra quoted the doctor as saying the Cardinal "no longer is master of his mental faculties. He breathes with difficulty and always holds his mouth open. His look is bewildered, like that of the demented."

The Cardinal was in a second degree burns suffered yesterday in an explosion-fire in an East side apartment building.

The victims were both residents of the building: Russell Flowers, 35, caretaker, and Leonard Benjamin, 64, janitor.

The pair was investigating tenant complaints of escaping gas in the basement. Police said a spark from Benjamin's cigarette apparently ignited fumes from an uncapped gas line.

Scores of windows were shattered throughout the building. Damage was estimated at more than $2,500.

Detroit Apartment Gas Blast Burns 2

Detroit, May 14. (P)—Two men were in serious condition with second degree burns suffered yesterday in an explosion-fire in an East side apartment building.

The victims were both residents of the building: Russell Flowers, 35, caretaker, and Leonard Benjamin, 64, janitor.

The pair was investigating tenant complaints of escaping gas in the basement. Police said a spark from Benjamin's cigarette apparently ignited fumes from an uncapped gas line.

Berlin Blockade Has A Hangover

Berlin, May 14. (P)—A four-power conference was called today to seek to clear away some of the confusion and differences remaining as a hangover since the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The economic chiefs of all four military governments in Berlin scheduled the meeting. A major subject before them is the Russians' insistence on reviving old east-west German trade agreements, suspended when the Soviets blocked Berlin. The western allies do not dispute the Russian claim that the agreements still are valid—but they do contend that the agreements are outmoded.

For instance, there is no way to translate west marks into east marks, and vice versa, the westerners hold, leaving barter the only visible balanced method of inter-zonal trade.

Unconfirmed German press reports said the east and west German zonal economic authorities would meet here Monday.

The German people, who had hoped the lifting of the blockade would bring swift end to their business depression and rationing, seem destined for disappointment. Food and money both are scarce, and the Germans' own economic experts say it probably will be some time before the situation improves much.

The people got a promise today, however, that cigarettes would be removed from the ration list June 1.

NEW NAVY HEAD—The White announced that President Truman has selected Francis P. Matthews (above), Omaha lawyer and banker, to be Secretary of the Navy. He will succeed John L. Child Psychologist Guarded For Suicide

Mother Held For Beating Her Baby To Death

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., May 14. (P)—Prison authorities said today they are taking special precautions against any suicide attempt by a 32-year-old child psychologist charged with murder in the fatal beating of her 15-month-old son.

Mrs. Martha Woodson Kalwaik is lodged in the women's detention home here. She was arrested two days ago at nearby Hazleton and accused of murder in the death of her son, Henry Charles.

Mrs. Kalwaik, a choir singer at Hazleton, was visited by the pastor of her church yesterday as well as by two of the four lawyers retained by her husband, Dr. Henry J. Kalwaik, a prominent dentist.

Police Chief Steve Havrilla of Hazleton said the woman admitted beating her son because she feared he might be developing a "Freudian complex."

She said, Havrilla related, that she beat Henry because he was jealous of Mrs. Kalwaik's attentions to Karen, his two and one-half year-old sister.

Karen was taken away from her home and is staying with relatives Dr. Kalwaik said. His mother, Mrs. Helen Kalwaik of Philadelphia, is president of the Union of Polish Women of America.

Dr. L. S. Reese, coroner who examined the dead child's body, said it was "in the worst condition I have experienced in 10 years as coroner."

Mediator Director Cyrus S. Ching said he would step in unless the strike were settled within a "reasonable period."

Ching, acting from Washington, sent telegrams to President Walter Reuther of the striking CIO United Auto Workers and Henry Ford II, company president.

In the light of "vital public interest" Ching said the government's mediation service would enter the case unless there were "significant progress . . . within a reasonable period of time."

He did not specify what he meant by "reasonable."

The federal mediation chief's message arrived yesterday as the UAW-CIO made a settlement proposal in writing in the production speeds dispute.

The union's 65,000 workers at Ford Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury went on strike on May 5 on a charge of an unfair speed-up in the plants. The company denies this.

Assistant Promoted To Take Over Work Of Army Secretary

Washington, May 14. (P)—President Truman has nominated assistant Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray for promotion to undersecretary with authority to run the department until a new secretary of the army is named.

If yesterday's nomination of Gray is approved by the Senate he will succeed William H. Draper, Jr., who has been in charge since Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall resigned recently.

Draper also has resigned.

Although the White House said the President is not yet ready to name Royall's successor, another top vacancy was filled yesterday when Mr. Truman nominated Francis Patrick Matthews to succeed John L. Sullivan as secretary of the navy.

SON SHOT TO DEATH

Owosso. (P)—Lynn Berger, 30, was found shot to death in the yard of his home here Friday. His father, Douglas, said his son had been dependent over financial losses.

Government May Go In Red Three Billion, Tax Experts Predict

Washington, May 14. (P)—Congressional tax experts estimated today the government will go in the red about $3,000,000,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1.

This estimate is sharply higher than President Truman's own budget estimates of a $900,000,000 deficit. However, there had been earlier reports the congressional experts might estimate the deficit for the next fiscal year as high as $5,000,000,000.

The staff of the joint Senate-House tax committee said it based its three billion deficit estimate on a belief that tax revenues, due to reduced business activity, will be around $2,100,000,000 less than President Truman has anticipated.

The staff report calculated in round figures, government will take in $38,900,000,000 and spend $41,900,000,000, leaving a deficit of around $3,000,000,000.

The report said that for the same period under President Truman's budget estimates the treasury will take in $41,000,000,000 and deficit will be $900,000,000.

Since that time, however, additional budget requests have been sent to congress which would increase the spending total. And some money bills—notably the $16,000,000,000 military appropriations measure passed by the House—seem likely to increase it even more.

The Senate-House committee report is expected to show that receipts aren't keeping pace with spending in the present year and are likely to fall even further behind in the 12 months ending June 30, 1950.

Union Makes Offer To End Ford Strike

Federal Mediator May Step Into Dispute

Detroit, May 14. (P)—Negotiations between the ten-day-old Ford strike idling at least 100,000 men gave some indications of progress today.

It wasn't enough, however, to bring forth any talk of early settlement and at the same time the federal government was interesting itself in the strike's "grave consequences."

Mediator Director Cyrus S. Ching said he would step in unless the strike were settled within a "reasonable period."

Ching, acting from Washington, sent telegrams to President Walter Reuther of the striking CIO United Auto Workers and Henry Ford II, company president.

In the light of "vital public interest" Ching said the government's mediation service would enter the case unless there were "significant progress . . . within a reasonable period of time."

He did not specify what he meant by "reasonable."

Cool Canadian Air Hits Great Lakes

Chicago, May 14. (P)—A mass of cool Canadian air moved through the Great Lakes region today.

It brought thundershowers through the upper Mississippi area, and around Lake Michigan as well as locally over the central Rockies, Oregon, and California.

In the southwest, tornadoes were reported in the Texas panhandle, with violent local storms moving out of control on a curve near Croton. He was pinned beneath the car as it went over a high embankment.

JEEP DRIVER KILLED

Lansing, May 14. (P)—Luther D. Green, 64, was killed in a traffic crash in Olive township, Clinton county, this morning.

Green, enroute to Lansing with a load of eggs and poultry, was struck by a car driven by Robert E. Plotner, 36, Laingsburg, and thrown from his jeep.

State Money Bills Set For Trimming During Final Week

Deficit Does Not Worry GOP Finance Leaders

Lansing, May 14. (P)—Michigan's 1949-50 state budget, half-way completed, is $57,000,000 to $60,000,000 in the red.

Easing up to yesterday's deadline, each chamber of the legislature had passed the money bills in its possession and the final week of the session will be devoted to pushing the measures through the opposite House and ironing out differences.

G.O.P. finance leaders were not worried about the apparent deficit. They continued to insist that before next week is done they will have the budget within $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 of balance.

This they hope to do by boosting some liquor revenues, using a cushion of surplus funds and counting gleefully additional sales and use tax income which they think will come from bills already passed.

False Economy Charged
The total of the bills as they passed one chamber was $276,290,768, compared with budget office recommendations of $290,303,109 and $255,115,498 appropriated for the current fiscal year.

Included in the total was a $12,491,525 appropriation for repairs and new construction at state institutions.

This item included $500,000 for each of the University of Michigan and Michigan State college for a start on the former's outpatient clinic and the latter's veterinary science building.

House Democrats sniped all day at the G. O. P. "hold the line" policy of going along with budget committee recommendations.

Rep. Martha W. Griffiths (D-Detroit) charged that many of the Republican budget reductions were "false economy."

She said the Democrats in 1950 would be able to take over from the Republicans the campaign cry for "soundly financed" government and turn it on the G. O. P.

College Funds Cut
The Democrats made futile efforts to restore University of Michigan appropriations to $11,800,000 and Michigan State college to $9,685,000 recommended in the budget.

Use of $10,986,315 for the university and $8,934,190 for Michigan.

The minority party fought unsuccessfully to increase teaching staffs at the blind and deaf schools, to eliminate "freezing" of job classifications in all bills and to reduce the legislature's appropriation for itself.

The institutional construction bill included:

Kalamazoo State Hospital $925,000 for a 150-bed receiving hospital addition, a generator and boiler; Lapeer State Home and Training School—$215,000 for a sewage treatment plant; New-

Dentist, 50, Becomes Paraguay President

Asuncion, Paraguay, May 14. (P)—Felipe Molas Lopez, 50, a dentist, takes the oath of office today as president of Paraguay. He barred fanfare and fancy dress.

He seized power last February in one of Paraguay's countless coups. There have been five changes of government within a year.

Molas Lopez' coup has been described as one of the cleverest in recent years. He accomplished it by inviting his political enemies to luncheon. When nearly all the army officers and political leaders supporting provisional President Raimundo Rolon were seated, Molas Lopez' men moved in. The startled guests were told: "Gentlemen, the jig is up." Leaderless, the remainder of the "government" support collapsed.

Sensenbrenner Will Receive Honorary Degree on June 9

West De Pere, Wis.—F. J. Sensenbrenner, retired chairman of the board of Kimberly-Clark Corp., Neenah, Wis., will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree at St. Norbert College, June 9, the Rt. Rev. Abbot S. M. Killen, executive vice-president of the college, announced today.

Previously, Abbot Killen had announced the awarding of an honorary Doctor of Literature degree to Miss Helen C. White, well known author and professor of English at Wisconsin university. It will be awarded June 9 also.

The degrees will be presented at the first Honors Commencement held at St. Norbert and will be part of the Semi-Centennial celebration commemorating the 50th anniversary of the establishment of Norbertine education in the United States.

Mr. Sensenbrenner retired January 1, 1945, after 56 years of active service with Kimberly-Clark Corp. He began working for the corporation in 1889 as a bookkeeper and in a short span of years was elevated to the office of president.

Always active in civic, church and educational affairs, Pope Pius XII bestowed upon him the highest honor given a layman by the Vatican when Mr. Sensenbrenner was decorated Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great. He is a member of the Advisory Board of St. Norbert College; member of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin; member of the Board of Governors of Marquette University and a member of the Board of Trustees of Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis.

Mr. Sensenbrenner is active in civic affairs in Neenah and is responsible for the addition and enlarging of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Appleton. He is prominently mentioned in Who's Who and the Catholic Who's Who in America.

Forest Fire Threat On Wane This week

Lansing, (AP)—Michigan's forest fire threat was on the wane last week as the smallest number of blazes since the danger season started was reported to the state conservation department.

The department reported 67 fires burned 602 acres throughout the state during the week. All were soon brought under control. Only 125 acres were burned over in the Upper Peninsula. Schoolcraft, Newberry, Luce and Mackinac counties reported no fires for the week.

So far this year, the department said, 15,989 acres have been burned over. During the same period last year only 5,450 acres were destroyed.

In the Middle Ages only kings were permitted to own swans, which were part of the regalia of European courts.

Hens Offer Eggs In Pastel Shades

Philadelphia, (AP)—How will you have your eggs—blue, pink or yellow?

Pastel colored hen's eggs to match your breakfast china may be a regular grocery item in the near future, says Horace P. Beck, who is pioneering an experiment to bring glamour to the egg basket.

Beck, an instructor of English at Community College of Temple University, now has a hen that lays turquoise blue eggs. He places a $10 value on one pretty blue egg—or $120 a dozen. But Beck says mass production would slash prices.

The English professor got into the pastel egg business when he read an article about araucanian chickens, natives of Araucania—a remote province of Chile.

Araucanians are about the same size as ordinary chickens, but they have virtually no combs and sport what looks like chin whiskers. Beck says chicken fanciers have learned that breeding Araucanians with ordinary chickens yields eggs in nice shades of pink and yellow.

Except for the coloring, Beck says, Araucanian eggs look and taste exactly like the kind produced by Mrs. Average American chicken.

NAHMA P.T.A. ENDS SEASON

Successful Year Comes To Close

Nahma, Mich.—A successful year was completed when the local unit of the P. T. A. held its last meeting at the school on Tuesday evening. Although the membership was good this year, it is hoped that more parents from Nahma and the county will enroll at the first meeting in September. During this past year several money making projects were conducted very successfully and the proceeds were used to purchase equipment for the school.

During the business meeting, Miss Mary Krutina, superintendent, installed the new officers. Mrs. A. B. Bernier, new president, conducted the meeting following the installation. William Vinette of Isabella was the retiring president, after serving the unit for the past two years.

Mrs. Marshall Beauchamp gave a short report on the recent convention in Escanaba, while a more detailed report was given by Mrs. Melba Bramer, also a delegate who attended more meetings. The following people were appointed as chairmen of the executive committee for next year:

Program chairman—Ira Hanson
Hospitality—Mrs. Joe Labadie
Finance—Lew Bramer
Historian—Miss Nora Holden
Lunch chairman—Mrs. Wallace Bennette
Founders Day chairman—Mrs. Herb Blowers

A program by the eighth graders was enjoyed by all present. During the social hour Mrs. Ed Tobin was high in bridge; Rudy Gereau high in cribbage and Mrs. Frank Sefcik high in 500.

Lunch was served in the dining hall by the May committee. Reunion
A reunion of the Mercier family was held last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gemunden. The evening was spent visiting and playing cards after which lunch was served.

Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. William Mercier, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mercier and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Gemunden of Nahma and Mr. and Mrs. Peter LeClaire and Mrs. D. J. Slye and son Harold of Gladstone.

Personals
Mrs. Harry DeRosier returned on Wednesday from Crystal Lake, Ill., where she spent two weeks visiting with the Phil Kerchberg family.

Miss Nora Holden was absent from school last week having been called to Menominee by the serious illness and death of her only sister, Mrs. Charles LaChance. The community extends their sympathy to Miss Holden.

Manley Anderson's Accordion Band On Concert Program

An added attraction to the Orpheus Choral Club spring concert Tuesday evening, May 17, at William W. Oliver Memorial auditorium, will be music by Manley Anderson's accordion band. It has been announced by Dick Hoyer, president of the Club.

Something unique in musical entertainment in Escanaba, the accordion band will play a group of selections midway in the Orpheus program. The 20 piece band is comprised of some of Mr. Anderson's outstanding students.

In addition to selections by the accordion band, solo will be played by Janet Dixner, 14, one of his talented young students. Miss Dixner and Steve Borko will play a duet, and Mr. Anderson will close his portion of the program with a group of accordion solos.

This first public appearance of accordion pupils in Escanaba has aroused considerable interest, and is expected to be a decided drawing card.

The concert will begin at 8:15. Tickets are now being sold by members of the Orpheus Choral Club and in several business places.

Truck Accident At Iron River

Iron River, Mich.—The Adams street straight-of-way that carries US-2 into the city proper was the scene of a rear-end collision involving two trucks.

Baptist Plourde of Gastra had driven out of the Homer road and onto the highway ahead of John V. Frederickson, 51, of Escanaba, a National Biscuit Co. truck driver. Plourde signaled for a left turn almost immediately and when he moved across the centerline to enter the Jean Wood Products mill road, his truck was rammed in the rear by the Escanaba. Damage to the latter was $50, to Plourde's truck, $5. Frederickson pleaded guilty to improper driving and he paid $5.15 costs in justice court.

Walleye Spearing Charge Is Denied
Gladstone—Stanley Mosier of Rapid River today pleaded not guilty to a charge of spearing walleye pike in Rapid River and trial in the case has been set by Justice A. T. Sohlberg for May 24.

Conservation officers Allen Tweedy of Escanaba and Robert Bezzi of Masonville arrested Mosier last night.

Ex-Navy Boys Were Hoping Jno. Daniels Would Get Navy Job

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—Some of us ex-Navy boys were hoping Jonathan Daniels would accept the secretaryship of the navy. We figured it would give the son a fine and poetic opportunity to right a great wrong. Mr. Daniels' pappy, Josephus, was the secretary who cut off the grog ration for the fleet, making it a crime against regulations to take so much as a seagoing snifter.

The late, Great Secretary Daniels was cussed heartily throughout the last war, for it was such a war as could have been leavened considerably by a small ration of rum or an odd bottle of beer. What happened was that the prohibitive ordinance created one of the greatest bootlegging operations of history.

Officers and men who got away with it smuggled store-bought booze aboard ship. They stole from cargoes of whisky and beer which were being freighted to foreign bases. They cooked up some of the most unusual concoctions ever to sear a palate.

Torpedoes were tapped for their alcoholic juice. Medicinal alcohol disappeared from sick-bays. Odd fermentations were produced from potatoes and shoe polish, raisins and dried plums.

When the men went ashore, they swigged anything they could lay hand to, including various native poisons which bred boxing gloves and temporary insanity. Denied the moderate balm of beer or a small noggin of rationed whisky, they steeped themselves in such questionable essences of sheepdip as cheap Aarsala, African Eau De Vie, and that Pacific Island scourge known as "Aggie." Aggie was short for aguardiente, the vicious end-product of fermented palm sap, or tuba. Aggie, when absorbed in quantity, was one of the most raucous beverages man ever devised. Its only competitor was either Australian whisky or Tunisian Eau De Vie. Either would gag a goat, and invested the drinker with delusions of John L. Sullivan.

The low-grade Marsala that wrecked the digestions of our troops in Sicily and Italy was one of the fiercer firewaters, too. It was thick and sweet and it stole away the brain. The famous shore-leave scene in "Mister Roberts" is no exaggeration. I once had to lend-lease a jail from the British in Bari, Italy, in which to house a normally tractable gun crew. They had the Marsala fancies, and came home intent on murdering each other.

Hounds Missing a Month Are Found

Two female beagle hounds found by Al Gordon, 312 N. 18th street, in the vicinity of 18-Mile Lake are owned by Martin Claeveens, of Munising, the Michigan State Police have been informed. Gordon turned the dogs over to the state police Friday after finding the beagles wandering in the woods. Claeveens reported that the dogs had been missing for a month.

Lions to Nominate Officers Monday

Nomination of officers for the next fiscal year will be held at the regular meeting of the Escanaba Lions club Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel. The program also will include a motion picture in color, "Song of the Pioneer," depicting a 100 years of railroad progress.

Master Plan For Escanaba Developed

THE planning staff of the city planning commission and the consultant, Elmer Krieger, of Milwaukee, have drawn the master plan for the development of Escanaba. The plan has been submitted to the commission and a public hearing is scheduled for Wednesday, June 1.

The planning commission and its staff undoubtedly have devoted considerable time and study to the community problems, those of today and the problems contemplated for the future. The master plan is simply a basis from which to start for the sound development of the community. It is not an end in itself. The master plan is subject to constant revision to meet new problems and revised thinking on present problems.

All in all, fair-minded citizens must concede that the planning commission has done a good job in developing the master plan. It is not perfect. Many people will find objections to portions of it. The commission itself admits that it has not found the solution to all of the complicated problems that have arisen. It can be the foundation of sound planning for the community and it was intended to be simply that and nothing else.

One of the changes that we think must inevitably be made is provision for a Class A residential area in North Escanaba. The master plan map as now drawn does not have any Class A residential area north of Ludington street which we believe is a mistake in view of the very excellent single-family residential developments that now exist in North Escanaba.

If city planning is to be successful in Escanaba, the public must understand the specific problems confronting the commission and know the reasons why certain solutions to those problems have been recommended. It will be the duty of the commission to present this information to the public regularly in the days ahead.

Manistique Assured Of New Hospital

DETERMINATION and patience are paying off for Manistique and Schoolcraft county proponents of a county memorial hospital. Ground will be broken for the new hospital within a few days and actual construction will start about June 1.

Bids for construction of the new hospital were opened Thursday. Low bids for the general contract, plumbing and heating, wiring and electrical installation, installation of hospital kitchen and installation of laundry totaled $288,529, or less than half of previous low bids on the hospital construction job. The reduced costs were made possible by eliminating frills and perhaps also by improved building conditions in recent months.

Manistique is now assured of the hospital which has long been dreamed of and which the residents of the community, assisted by their neighbors in the townships of Schoolcraft county, have worked diligently to achieve. Residents of the area have dug deep into their pocketbooks to gain the new hospital. They have voted overwhelmingly for new taxes to liquidate hospital bonds and in addition they have shelled out generously in outright contributions.

No one really doubted that Manistique would achieve its goal, once the unity and determination of the people was asserted. There were many disappointments and a lot of headaches, but success is about to be achieved.

The need for this improvement has been fully recognized for a long period of time.

Boys Town Will Be Enlarged

OUR daily diet of news runs heavily to tensions and alarms. This can't be helped. The tensions and crises are there and, as a nation, we have to stay informed to stay alive. Still most of us yearn for a little pleasant reading now and then. Which brings us to a recent story out of Omaha.

It was an account of the dedication of $10,000,000 worth of new buildings at Boys Town, in the suburbs of the Nebraska metropolis. It was also a story of how faith can pay off in a tangible way in our rather cynical everyday world.

The name of Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan figured prominently in this story, although it was dated almost a year after his death. This was quite natural, of course. For the new building program, like Boys Town itself, was the fulfillment of Father Flanagan's practical as well as theological faith. As a young man, Father Flanagan came to the conclusion that there was no such thing as a bad boy. He set out to prove his point in 1917. His capital consisted of a "bad boy" on whom he could test his theory, and a cottage in Omaha to house the experiment.

The young priest soon had plenty of material to work with. His experiment outgrew the cottage, and Boys Town was founded. The boys kept on coming. They are still coming, at the rate of 50 a month and with a waiting list of 3000.

Father Flanagan was not the first person to reason that juvenile delinquents and problem children were the products of bad environment and lack of opportunity rather than examples of innate wickedness. But few people ever devoted themselves so patiently, tirelessly and wholeheartedly to the task of proving that decent surroundings and kindly understanding will usually produce honest, useful citizens.

It is encouraging to realize that others shared and supported Father Flanagan's faith, and that Boys Town continues to grow and flourish under his successors. For the new group of buildings it not only a monument to the abiding success of an experiment. It is a monument to $10,000,000 worth of American citizens' belief in the dignity and decency of human beings.

Communist Gets AEC Scholarship

THE disclosure that the atomic energy commission has selected an avowed Communist as a recipient of a federal scholarship for nuclear studies was made in Washington Thursday and confirmed in Chapel Hill, N. C., by the student himself, Hans Freistadt, a native of Austria.

Rep. Cole of New York told the house of representatives that Freistadt got the AEC grant, reported to be $3,600 a year, despite the fact that the atomic commission had a federal bureau of investigation report on Freistadt which showed his Communist affiliation.

Freistadt admitted in Chapel Hill, N. C., where he is a graduate student at the University of North Carolina, that he is a Communist and that he joined the Communist party after he became a naturalized citizen several years ago. He added that "nothing was said in the application for scholarship about political affiliation."

It is incongruous, to say the least, for American taxpayers to shell out $3,600 per year to finance the education of a Communist student of nuclear fission in the face of the admission by American Communists that they would be traitors to America in the event of a war with Russia. Can anyone really doubt that a Communist trained with American taxpayers' money would deliver his knowledge of atomic science to the benefit of Soviet Russia, if called upon to do so by the Kremlin?

Why the atomic energy commission would even consider Freistadt's application after learning that he was a Communist is difficult to understand. He did receive the scholarship, but it's not too late to correct this serious error.

ON THE CALENDAR (Grand Rapids Press)

A nationally-circulated magazine includes in each issue a calendar showing important birth anniversaries and similar data for the current month. Western Michigan folk will be pleased to learn that the important event listed for May 18 is the opening of Holland's Tulip festival. The festival, of course, is an institution of long standing, and one that millions of Americans have become acquainted with through newspaper stories, motion pictures and magazine articles. The Tulip festival has become an event of nationwide attention. It is both on the map and on the calendar.

What many persons outside Michigan—and even some inside—don't know is that the state has many colorful festivals and pageants to be enjoyed throughout the tourist-resort season. Why don't the tourist-resort interests in Michigan get up their own calendar of the illustrated type to show all such events for the vacation months? It should prove an effective way to help families all over the country to plan their vacations so as to be able to take in the Michigan attractions of particular interest to them.

Altoona: Your column says that "Reverend" is not a name or title. Colby, you're wrong. The Bible says that God's name is Reverend.—J. J.

A. So far as I know the word reverend is found but once in the Bible, in Psalms 111:9: "... and reverend is His name." This does not mean that God's name is "Reverend." It simply means that God's name is to be revered.

Washington: What about the word conduit? Are not people wrong in pronouncing it as three syllables?—H. C. U.

A. The older dictionaries list "KON-dit" as first or only choice. However, the Standard American pronunciation is: KON-doo-it, which is fully sanctioned by the modern authorities.

Hattiesburg: In a magazine story the heroine is said to have "black, tawny hair." How about that?—M. D.

A. The author apparently thinks that tawny means "heavy; coarse." But tawny means "tan."

Russian Plans Are Uncertain

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Apart from the fact, and it is a sizable fact, of the actual lifting of the blockade of Berlin, the objectives of Soviet Russia in Germany are anyone's guess. That goes for the United States delegation to the meeting of the council of foreign ministers in Paris.

Members of the delegation have been doing a great deal of speculating, as have others with even less knowledge. For example, it is a fairly good guess that the Russians will move for the unification of all of Germany and, as a corollary to this, the withdrawal of all occupation troops—U. S., French, British and Russian.

But whether this is actually the goal not even Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who will head the delegation, can be sure. Therefore, the U. S. group will go to Paris prepared for anything.

While flexibility will be the watchword, there are at least two sticking points fairly well defined in advance. They are both related to the expectation that the Russians will plump for a united Germany. The U. S. delegation naturally will not oppose unification. To do that would be to invite the Russians to exploit a reviving German nationalism. But the U. S. will insist at Paris that any union between East Germany and West Germany must be within the framework of the new German constitution.

NOT ON RUSSIAN TERMS
In other words, a unified Germany would come not on Russian terms but within the well-defined limits already laid down by the Western powers and accepted by the Germans at Bonn. A Soviet appeal to German nationalism—to override the Bonn constitution—would still be possible. But it would not be nearly so likely to succeed since the West Germans know a great deal about what happened to the East Germans under the Russian occupation.

The second sticking point is directly related to this. Short of a miracle with J. Stalin floating over Paris as a dove of peace (an event considered most unlikely), the U. S. delegation will not agree to withdrawal of all occupation troops.

The U. S. conceivably would agree to a considerable scaling down of the occupation forces of the four powers. They would be reduced in scope if not in numbers. Instead of being all over the place, the troops would be assigned to certain garrison towns as a purely garrison force. This, however, is about as far as the delegation will go on the occupying force.

U. S. policy makers believe that any other course would aggravate the deep-seated fear of German revival that has long oppressed Western Europe and especially the French. That fear was a motivating force in the French opposition to the policies of the retiring U. S. commander in the American zone of Germany, Gen. Lucius Clay.

When the foreign ministers were in Washington recently for the signing of the North Atlantic pact, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France went a long way in agreeing to German revival under the Bonn constitution. But, as responsible U. S. officials see it, there are limits beyond which Western Europe will not go and should not be asked to go with respect to Germany.

ACHESON SHOWS TACT
The U. S. delegation to Paris will be exceptionally strong. In his four months as secretary of state, Acheson has demonstrated once again his lawyer-like skill and the breadth of his knowledge and experience. But he is also demonstrating a tact and patience that were not always in evidence in the past.

Second man on the delegation Philip C. Jessup, conducted the negotiations leading up to the lifting of the blockade. One of the chief advisers will be Charles E. Bohlen, counselor of the state department, who has a first-hand knowledge of all the ins and outs of German-Russian policy. Beginning in late August or September, Bohlen will serve in Paris as U. S. minister under the newly appointed ambassador, David Bruce.

If the president in the near future names John J. McCloy, now head of the World Bank, to be civilian administrator to succeed Clay, the hope is that he also will be a participant in the conference. This would give him an understanding of the problem that he could not get otherwise.

The U. S. delegation will need a lot of steadiness and poise. While it is in Paris the likelihood is that the senate will be debating the Atlantic pact and some of that debate is certain to give comfort to our enemies and cause our friends a great deal of embarrassment.

as grandpop's moustache cup, and is not listed at all by modern dictionaries. The correct pronunciation is: OK-tuh-pus.

Aside to Frank Sinatra. In your Hit Parade rendition of "Cruising Down the River," you used the erroneous and absurd pronunciation, "after-nyoon" for the word afternoon. I suggest that you look up the word afternoon in the dictionary—you know, Frankie, the book with a lot of words in it?

Mechanicville, N. Y.: When I was in school I was taught to pronounce the word "with" with a "th" sound as in "this." Why do people pronounce it "th" as in "thin"?—W. B.

A. It's a matter of choice; both are correct. The "th" as in "thin" seems to prevail in Standard American speech. But in the word "without" the "th" as in "this" prevails.

Are you having difficulty using the ten self words? Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-23, makes it easy for you to learn the only two ways in which they can be used correctly. The Awkward Squad

Good Evening By Clint Dunathan

JAPANESE SPUDS—Two men who have gained much of their experience in the Upper Peninsula have been cited as outstanding in their assistance to Japanese farmers under the U. S. occupation government.

They are Russ Horwood, now extension supervisor and superintendent of Michigan State College's experiment station at Chatham, and Ernest J. Wheeler, Michigan State College farm crops authority. Both are now "home" again after spending a year or more in Japan, where they found the greatest possibility for increasing the staple food supply for the Japanese islanders is through extended production of the white potato. Horwood has been back from Japan for a year or more, while Wheeler returned last month.

Nearly every farmer in Japan grows some white potatoes, but not enough. They are small operators with little equipment needed for good insect disease control.

STILL A PROBLEM—Unlike conditions in the Upper Peninsula, where some seasons are marked by too little rainfall, Japan on the whole has ideal potato growing weather—higher humidity and heavy rainfall. Ireland's climate is like that.

Wheeler is a specialist in plant breeding and in his work in Michigan has developed a number of seedlings—crosses that combine all of the good characters in one potato. The ideal has not yet been attained, but year after year the experiments continue. Some day the ideal potato will be achieved. Although never permanently stationed in the U. P., Wheeler spent much time up here. A considerable amount of his potato work in the development of new seedlings was on the Grey Knaps farm at Cornwell where the experiments were conducted with Grey's co-operation.

Michigan still has its potato production problems, but they are not those of Japan. In Michigan it is often a problem to convince the grower that he should use his broad acres and mechanized equipment to grow a high quality product; in Japan quantity production is sought through better cultural practices and the clearing and planting of additional lands. In this country there is an over-production of potatoes. In Japan production is too low.

GREATER INTEREST—"My work in Japan was little different than it is in Michigan," the MSC potato specialist commented. He added: "The interest may have been greater in Japan for those people know what it is to be short of food and go hungry."

Michigan growers, who have fought potato scab for years, will be interested in knowing that little scab exists in Japan. Virus diseases, late blight and ring rot, however, cause great damage. So do many insects common in the United States.

Potato growing conditions in Japan are described by Wheeler as "ideal"—high humidity and heavy rainfall. In some tropical areas the Japanese plant potatoes in February and harvest them in June. They immediately plant rice and harvest the rice crop in November in time to prepare

INTO THE PAST

20 Years Ago
Gwinn—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mailinen are the parents of a daughter born May 7. Mrs. Mailinen is the former Ethel Shelander.

Manistique—Mrs. W. J. Saunders is in Manistique this week to supervise redecoration of her home on walnut street. Dr. Saunders, who has been practicing in Munising, will resume his practice here this summer.

10 Years Ago
Escanaba—The wrecked remains of the steamer Nahant, which has rotted off the north shore for the past 40 years, will soon be marked by a buoy for protection of yachtsmen. The steamer's boiler lies about three feet below the water and has been a menace since she was scuttled by flames in 1900. According to the tale of the burning Nahant, two sailors returning from a tour of Escanaba saloons, knocked over a kerosene lamp in the fore-castle, and started the fire. A strong wind fanned the flames and the entire ship was soon in flames. Many sailors burned to death in their bunks and the number four ore dock was burned. Firemen fighting the flames were continually forced back as timbers collapsed and ore cars pitched into the water. The old ore carrier was the last one in that season.

ground for another potato crop in February. Sometimes it is seeded immediately to winter wheat.

STORAGE—Another problem in Japan is the storage of potatoes, including sweet potatoes. Findings as the result of storage facilities and tests in Michigan were adapted by Wheeler to help solve the problem in Japan. Storage houses built under his supervision kept the sweet potato crop in good condition after four months in storage.

EDUCATION—The program to reach the Japanese farmer and teach him better production methods is proving successful.

Wheeler said occupation government officials gave much credit to the work of Russ Horwood, former Michigan State College dairyman, for setting up the extension program in Japan. Horwood spent many years in the Upper Peninsula as dairy specialist for the college, and is now extension supervisor in the U. P. and superintendent of the college's experiment station at Chatham.

Horwood and Wheeler found the Japanese farmer eager to meet them and to hear them through an interpreter, that is. Wheeler talked to 12,000 farmers in one week of extension meetings. "I talked to more farmers last year than I ever hope to reach in a year in Michigan," he said.

THEY WERE SURPRISED—Wheeler said the Japanese people seemed amazed that an American professor would work with his hands showing them how to cut seed potatoes, treat them against disease, and later spray the plants and dig the crops.

And ordinary small field demonstration would bring out 50 to 250 Japanese farmers who would watch the crops specialists go through a practical lesson in some phase of potato production.

One aged Japanese farmer expressed his appreciation by traveling 1,000 miles to Tokyo to bid Wheeler goodbye. Following Wheeler's advice, the farmer had obtained crop yields three times greater than before. "I wish to express thanks for kindly guidance," the old gentleman told Wheeler.

Roving Reporter By Hal Boyle

New York, (AP)—The poor man's philosopher asks:

Is mankind getting more cruel? This is a question in many minds today. And many have decided in their own hearts the answer is: "Yes."

Such a conclusion is bad indeed for the world. For if a majority of people really believed mankind were getting more cruel, then mankind would soon actually be more cruel. For what men believe they are, they tend in time to become.

But most people just wonder about whether cruelty is dying or growing. Here is what a few have said to me:

A Negro steward—"People are more cruel, because they aren't as polite as they were even 20 years ago. And how about these stories in the papers of children killing other children? Isn't that a terrible sign of what's wrong?"

A combat veteran—"I don't know. But I do know we had more fellow feeling between men fighting overseas than we do now at home in peace."

A businessman—"People aren't getting more cruel. They're just being crowded harder—that's all." An experienced editor—"The cussedness man was born with just has more chance to show itself now."

A salesgirl—"When I get up in the morning, I don't think people are getting any more cruel. But by 5 o'clock in the afternoon I'm not so sure. I guess how you feel about that depends on what's happened to you."

It is a mixed up question at best. Perhaps in no other generation in history have the devil and the angel in man's dual nature contended harder for the mastery of his soul.

In what other 35-year period have more people been starved to death, destroyed in warfare, executed in mass murders, or killed by accidents?

Yet in what other similar period have more people won or sustained political independence? In what other period has mankind made more social progress, achieved greater economic freedom, or made such startling conquests over disease?

The optimist says, "man is living longer."

And the cynic replies, "Yes, but only to be miserable longer."

It does appear that man is giving an odd answer to Cain's timeless query: "Am I my brother's keeper?" He is both his brother's keeper—and his brother's destroyer.

But as long as he keeps growling for something he hopes will be better than he has known it is impossible to say man is getting any crueler.

So They Say

With generations of training and indoctrination in the nationalist spirit, a spirit that reached a climax in the 19th century, one would be fairly naive to expect a people to change in the space of three years.—Dr. Alonzo G. Grace, director, American Military Government Education Division, warning that the German people are still intensely nationalistic.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Tammany politicians who have kibitzed the Manhattan rallies of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., are definitely worried. They have been forced to admit the kid has inherited the old man's charm.

In fact, they are beginning to wonder if he may not run off with the election to the late Congressman Sol Bloom's seat when the votes are counted next Tuesday.

Here is the sort of "Junior"—as Tammany calls him—stumps Manhattan's mid-town Twentieth district: A lady with a baby, after Franklin passed, cried in ecstasy to the child, "He saw you; he spoke to you? My child, he spoke to you!"

A crowd of a thousand Negroes and Puerto Ricans, on Columbus avenue, crowded around his sound truck and kept him answering questions for an hour.

A wounded sailor who served on the same destroyer with young Roosevelt, called from a crowd: "I want to see my old 'exec' elected!"

A Puerto Rican woman, as a meeting broke up, cried "I pray he gets elected; he's our hero!"

At the end of a day of this sort of campaigning, Franklin implored Liberal party worker Mrs. Benjamin Pollack, his law partner's wife, "Listen, you got to do something to protect me from the women!"

TRUMAN FORCED CLAY RETIREMENT
Inside fact about Gen. Lucius Clay's retirement as U. S. military governor of Germany was that he didn't want to be retired at this time at all. Truman forced his hand.

Clay had been sending messages to Chief of Staff Omar Bradley, complaining that he was tired and ill and wanted to come home. But close friends say the general had expected Bradley to urge him to stay on. He wanted to see the new German republic finally set up. So Clay got the shock of his life when, alighting from a train in Germany on May 3, he was informed that his retirement had been officially announced by the White House.

What actually happened was this. President Truman just happens to have been one of the senate crusaders against cartels and monopolies. In fact, it was his expose of Germany's I. G. Farben and its conspiracy to control rubber and synthetic gasoline with Standard Oil of New Jersey which first shot the Truman war investigating committee into the headlines.

On April 29, therefore, the president read the report of Federal Trade Commissioner Garland Ferguson on the U. S. army's failure under Clay to disband I. G. Farben and other Nazi cartels. Calling in an aide, Truman said:

"Now is the time to get rid of that top sergeant in Germany."

Three days later, and much to the dismay of the general himself, the White House announced that Clay would be relieved on May 15. Clay's friends and advisers immediately started some backstage wire-pulling to keep the general in office, but when Truman makes up his mind, it usually stays made up.

Note—Just a few days prior to this, Richardson Bronson of the decartelization branch, severely criticized in the Ferguson report, was telling friends not to worry about the Ferguson report because his friend, former Undersecretary of the Army William Draper, had put the "fix" in at Washington. Apparently Mr. Draper, of the Forrestal Wall Street banking firm, didn't have the fix fixed securely.

TRUMAN'S VIEW OF CONGRESS
Real fact was that Senator Byrd of Virginia wasn't the only solon blasted by President Truman when he visited with officials of the American veterans committee the other day.

About Mississippi's turbulent John Rankin, Truman said: "I can understand him personally, but as a legislator the unfortunate gentleman baffles me."

Indiana and Missouri were "about even," Truman averred, in having the "worst" representation in the U. S. senate. Asked whether he would choose Indiana's Senators Capehart and Jenner, both Republicans, or Missouri's Senators Donnell and Kem, also Republicans, the president retorted cheerfully:

"Oh, my own state always comes first with me."

AVC Chairman Gilbert Harrison asked the president whether he would "go back to the people" if congress ditched most of his legislative program.

"Well, I hope I won't have to," Truman replied. "That's up to congress."

SENATORIAL HEART-THROBS

Washington's most baffling romance is whether Sen. Harry Cain of Washington state is divorcing or honeymooning his wife, Marjorie. It has all Capitol Hill talking.

The gravel-voiced Republican took the unusual step of summoning a press conference last summer to announce that all was over between him and Mrs. Cain. But while the divorce papers are supposed to be going through the courts, the Cains are going around town—together.

The other woman in the triangle, though not announced at Cain's press conference, is attractive Mary Louise Hall, who used to work for the G. O. P.'s senate secretary, Carl Loeffler.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Cain has started a heroic battle for her man. During his six-hour filibuster against Washington's ex-Governor Mon Wallgren, Mrs. Cain was a faithful spectator in the senate gallery. To other senators' wives, she exclaimed: "Isn't he great! That's my man!"

A friendly photographer even took her picture leaving the senate gallery, and the picture was printed from coast to coast.

Mrs. Cain also has taken a great interest in the senate wives' auxiliary, whose meetings she now attends, and has begged the senator to take her to official receptions.

But Mrs. Cain's two aces in the battle to win back her husband are—11-year-old Harry "Raisin" Cain and 5-year-old Marlyce "Candy" Cain.

Poppy Shipment
Received Here
For Annual Sale

The shipment of flowers which will be sold in Escanaba's downtown business district on Poppy Day has arrived it was announced today by Mrs. Nettie Seidl, poppy chairman of Cloverland Unit 82 American Legion Auxiliary which annually sponsors the sale.

The work of counting and arranging the flowers will begin this coming week to make them ready for volunteer workers who will conduct the sale. The poppies, made of crepe paper with wire stems, are exact replicas of the wild poppies which grew in the battle cemeteries in France and Belgium during World War I. "These flowers were nature's floral tribute to those who died," Mrs. Seidl said in her announcement, "and as soon as the American Legion and Auxiliary were organized after the war we made them our memorial flower. When more young Americans gave their lives in Europe's poppy studded fields in World War II the poppy became their memorial flower too and it now signifies remembrance for America's war dead, no matter in what part of the world they gave their lives."

The poppies received here are the work of disabled veterans in Veterans Facility at Fort Custer, Mich., where poppy making is directed by the Michigan Department of the Auxiliary. The veterans not only earn badly needed money by making the little red flowers but the employment is considered valuable as occupational therapy.

IN AMERICAN FARMHOUSE STYLE — The composite ideas of thousands of readers of a national building publication as to how a house should be designed and arranged are embodied in this neat cottage, "The New Yorker."

House Design Based On Survey Findings

Features Found to Be Most in Demand by American Families Are Included in Plans for Colonial Style Home

What does the American family of today most desire in a home?

To discover the answer to this question, a national building trades publication recently conducted a nation-wide survey among its readers.

It learned, among other things, that a majority of prospective builders want a one-story house, a separate front entry with a coat closet and a well lighted living room with a fireplace.

These, and several other "demand features" revealed by the survey are incorporated in the plans for "The New Yorker," a dwelling designed in the American farmhouse style and introduced today by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service.

The simplicity of Colonial structures has been retained in this house. A Christian door and pillared front doorway balance, in location, with a large, square chimney. An oriel window on one end of the house floods the living room with light.

The house could have either shingled or clapboard walls, preferably painted white.

The "New Yorker" has overall dimensions of 35x26.6 feet. Its cubic content is 20,000 feet. As planned, the attic is devoted exclusively to storage. Should this second floor area ever need to be made livable, a shed dormer across the rear roof would be required.

Even without finishing off the second floor, however, The New Yorker is a house amply large for the average family.

Its living room, for example, is 22 feet long and 11.6 feet wide. Even a grand piano could be accommodated in a room so large without crowding other furnishings. A wall finish of knotty pine is the architect's suggestion for this room.

Built-In Bookshelves
Wall space adjacent to the fireplace in the living room is filled with built-in bookshelves and desk. At the left of the fireplace is a wood closet with shelves or cabinet space above. Backing this closet and cabinet space, in the dining room, a Colonial china cabinet could well be installed in the chimney depth of the wall. Here a telephone niche would make this utility convenient to both living and dining rooms.

The living room has cased openings connecting it with the front entry and the dining room. This latter room is 8.6x12.

The kitchen combines features suggested by hundreds of housewives interviewed. The sink, below a window, adjoins an "L"-shaped working counter with wall cabinets above. Opposite the sink, across the room, is the range with all space at either side where smaller work counters and wall cabinets could be located. Behind this wall, stairs lead to the basement. Beside the refrigerator, in one end of the kitchen, is floor space for a utility closet or, possibly, a working table which, equipped with casters, could be rolled up to the sink for the daily dish-washing duties.

Hall Is Centrally Located
From the kitchen a door opens on an "L"-shaped, centrally located hall. At one end of this hall stairs rise to the upper part of the house. In this hall, which gives complete direct access between living room and all other parts of the house, are a large linen closet and a generous sized broom closet.

The bedrooms, each 10.6x11.6 feet in floor area, and the compact bathroom, all are reached from the hallway.

Each of the bedrooms has windows on two exposures, for cross light and ventilation. Each room also has a large clothes closet. Wall space is planned, in both rooms, so that a double bed can

"World Of Noise"
Could Be Hushed

New York — Our "world of noise" can be made quieter by a few relatively simple changes, the Acoustical Society of America was told here.

Dr. Leo L. Beranek of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology charged that "buildings have become more and more flimsy."

be accommodated.

While plans for "The New Yorker" call for a full cellar, partial excavation only could be carried out; this to accommodate heating equipment installation, etc. Hardwood floors, copper or brass piping throughout, linoleum floors for kitchen and bath room, bronze screens for all windows, and built-in shower in the bathroom are modern conveniences called for in specifications prepared by the architect.

Plans Are Available
Complete plans for "The New Yorker" may be obtained at moderate cost. To ascertain exact price of these documents, write to the Home Building Editor, Daily Press, and enclose a self-addressed envelope bearing a three-cent stamp. At least one week should be allowed for a reply. (Released by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service)

Not only are our homes invaded by the sound of traffic and planes, but "what is worse, the noise of one's neighbors at play or in battle," he complained.

Here are some suggestions Dr. Beranek made for promoting peace and quiet:

Architects should plan homes so that noisy functions are separated from quieter ones.

Plumbing fixtures can be selected for quietness, as well as other virtues.

Rubber-tired buses can be substituted for street cars, subways for elevated trains.

Strictly enforced ordinances can reduce excessive horn-toting by motorists.

Noisy commercial activities can be kept away from residential areas by zoning laws.

Wages and salaries normally account for at least half of the total costs of retailing, according to the Twentieth Century Fund.

Where Are the Trout?

With two weeks of the trout season passed into history, trout fishermen are proving to be even more shy than usual. Not a single trout entered in the contest. There have been a few requests for blanks, they "want to wait and see if a larger fish is entered." Only entry blanks that get to the judges can be considered, so send in the entries, boys, you can always send in another if you catch a larger fish.

Perch continue to come in large sizes with the largest during the week being entered by Clarence Van Elsacker of Northland who took a 1 pound 9 ounce one from the bay at Gladstone. Rev. Herbert G. Walther used a minnow at the Manistique harbor to land one weighing 1 pound 8½ ounces and Jack Carlson of Wells caught one weighing 1 pound 5½ ounces in the bay off the ore docks.

Shooting Gains

Escanaba's Junior Rifle club members who are now anticipating some outdoor shooting, if plans for an outdoor range materialize, are in step with youth of the rest of the country. American youth is showing more interest in the sport of small bore rifle shooting this year than ever before, according to C. F. McCubbin, manager, rifle promotion section, Remington Arms Co.

"The increased interest in small bore rifle shooting is wide-spread and general," says McCubbin. "In 1939 there were 2,181 senior rifle clubs, 1,227 junior rifle clubs and 96 college rifle clubs affiliated with the National Rifle association. At the present time there are 3,800 senior clubs, 2,800 junior clubs and more than 200 colleges participating in the National Rifle association program, truly amazing increase."

Junior riflemen not only participate in small bore rifle activities with eager enthusiasm but are taking their shooting seriously, making every effort to become excellent marksmen in further enjoyment of the sport. There are now about 20,000 junior shooters who have qualified for marks-

MUNISING NEWS

Cancer Fund Dance Planned on Friday

Munising—A public dance for the benefit of the Alger county cancer fund drive will be held Friday evening, May 27, at the Sylvan Inn, V. A. Floria, campaign chairman, has announced.

Music will be played by Ivan Kobasie's orchestra. Mrs. Robert Nebel is chairman of the dance committee.

The contributions to the county quota of $860 totalled $325.19 this week.

Maniship honors of varying degree under the National Rifle association plan. This marked increase in shooting proficiency on the part of the younger shooters has been brought about through the unselfish efforts of the 5,319 qualified instructors now engaged in giving these juniors proper training. There is hardly a community now where proper organized instruction is not available to the junior, either by some interested adult or a recognized instructor.

The small bore rifle matches annually held throughout the country have brought about a considerable increase in this general interest. Not only have they been responsible in no small measure for the increased shooting proficiency of junior and senior riflemen alike, but they have been of untold value to Young America through promoting the realization of the importance of learning proper and safe methods of handling firearms at an early age.

These matches have also played their part in the fight against juvenile delinquency, for gun handling instructions bring home to the youngster full knowledge of his own responsibility to himself, to others and to property in general whenever he shoulders a gun.

Small bore rifle shooting is the least expensive of the shooting sports. It is within easy reach of the average man's, or boy's, pocketbook. It requires coordination of mind, muscle and eyesight in a fine degree, which in turn calls for clean living. It is a healthy sport in which every participant finds ready companionship on common ground. It is an avenue of association which leads to true and lasting friendships and pleasant and interesting experiences. It is a definite part of American life which contributes to the safety of America's future.

Week's Search For Capac
Man Proves Futile

Troopers Robert Leonard and Robert Peterson of the Gladstone post have returned home after having spent a portion of the week at Newberry assisting in the hunt for P. Hale Currier of Capac, missing since last fall when he disappeared while partridge hunting. A concerted search for ten days or two weeks was conducted immediately following his disappearance but no trace of the man could be found.

Last weekend the search was renewed. Eleven members of the Michigan State Police, several conservation department men, several guides and a group of Capac residents participated but the search again proved futile.

Currier is a brother-in-law of Ross Davis of this city.

Charlie DuRoy Says:

THE K-F "TRAVELER" IS REALLY
TWO CARS IN ONE!

It's something new in the automobile industry—a lower priced multi-purpose sedan.

To all appearances a conventional 4-door sedan, it is designed so the rear seat cushions fold away and the entire back opens giving access to 130 cubic feet of cargo space.

The Traveler is the answer to the Sportsman's prayer—an ideal car for the farmer.

When not being used for cargo it becomes a regular 6-passenger deluxe sedan.

A Message
To Fashion-Wise
You!

Your make-up has taken on new importance with the radical changes in the fashion picture. This year's make-up shades, this year's complexion care programs are as new and different as this year's clothes.

That's why we believe you will like being our guest during Cara Nome Beauty Week at one of the group consultations with our Cara Nome specialist. She comes to us directly from America's fashion and beauty centers, sparkling with new ideas. Besides, she is highly trained in teaching correct complexion care and make-up.

She will talk with you informally about your special complexion problems, outline, if you like, a program of daily skin care for you, help you select flattering make-up tints, and give you many suggestions for applying your make-up to give the smart new look. Right there you may "try on" different tints and see for yourself the amazing difference make-up can effect.

We have personally engaged the Cara Nome Specialist and are happy to offer you this service with no charge or obligation on your part.

In Blaney Park

Delegates and alternates to the Upper Peninsula Lions club convention to be held at Blaney Park on June 12, 13 and 14 were elected at a regular meeting of the Lions club on Tuesday evening.

Delegates selected were Earl Cox, Dr. E. D. Branyan, C. E. Leonard, and Walter G. Wilson. Alternates named were Sgt. Kenneth White, Howard Hewitt, Adam Heinz and Nick Parente.

Selection of candidates for club officers for the ensuing year was left to a committee consisting of Donald Fiegel, Hugh Kennedy and Dr. E. D. Branyan.

The club also named a committee to investigate a proposal that the club lease and operate the trailer park. On the committee are Wallace Severs, Leonard Mulhaupt and Earl Cox.

Parking Meter
Revenue Good
First Few Days

Parking meters have paid off well in the first few days of operation. Collections up to Friday afternoon amounted to $123.89.

This accumulation, it is explained, is not a true test of the average revenue that may be expected in a five day period because the parking meter ordinance was not strictly enforced Monday and Tuesday—violators being given courtesy tickets at that time and many motorists chose to ignore the presence of the meters.

Parking violations since that time have been fairly numerous, but the number is dwindling.

Comment concerning meters is generally less resentful than it was before their installation. The fact that there is now plenty of parking space along business streets is generally noted with satisfaction.

Meter service men found several instances of jammed meters the first day or so, but these were apparently caused by juveniles. Now that meters have become common, less trouble is encountered. Popsicle sticks inserted in the coin openings caused most of this annoyance.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Couples Fellowship—The Couples Fellowship of the Bethel Baptist church will meet at eight o'clock on the evening of Tuesday, May 17. The Rev. William Schobert will give the talk of the evening and there will be special music. The Rev. and Mrs. Harold Martinson and Mr. and Mrs. Axel Holmquist are on the serving committee.

Lady Forester Convention—Lady Forester members who are planning on attending the Cleveland Association meeting at Gladstone on May 24 are urged to make reservation at once as they must be in by Tuesday. Those wishing to be accommodated should call either Mrs. George Barker or Mrs. George Tiglas.

Notice—There will be no Sunday school or Divine worship service at St. Peter's Lutheran church on Sunday. Pastor H. Walther will be absent from his church to be guest speaker in Marquette.

V. F. W. Auxiliary—The V. F. W. Auxiliary will hold a social meeting on Monday evening, May 16 at 8 o'clock in the club rooms on Maple street. Members may invite guests. Pot luck lunch will be served.

Party Games—Regular V. F. W. public party games will be held this evening at 8:30 in the V. F. W. club rooms on Maple street.

Mrs. D. Shipman To Speak At Soo Library Meeting

Mrs. Dorothy Shipman and Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert are in Sault Ste. Marie today attending a district meeting of Upper Michigan librarians.

Mrs. Shipman was scheduled to give an address at the meeting during the afternoon.

MISS MARION BRAWLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Brawley of Gould City, became the bride of Leo Musselman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Musselman of Germfask, in a ceremony performed April 29 at the Presbyterian Manse in Manistique, the Rev. Paul Sobel officiating. The couple are making their home on their farm near Germfask. (Bradley Photo)

Lincoln PTA Has
Final Meet And Program Of Year

Highlighting the program of Lincoln Parent-Teacher's association Thursday evening were the sextet and octet of the fifth grade room. The sextet sang, "The Pledge" and the octet, "Si Signor" under the direction of Miss Mattie Benson, room teacher. These boys and girls were unaccompanied and their two-part singing was well received by the more than one hundred members and guests present. Members of the sextet are Shelia Larson, Kay Wood, Gail Couture, Bob Harris, Douglas Dragosh, and Jimmy Gould; and of the octet, Shelia Larson, Myrene Briggs, Chester Young and Bob Harris.

Other numbers on the program included dances and musical readings. The dance numbers were presented by twenty-four volunteers from the high school girls gymnasium class. Miss Ona Volten, the physical director, introduced the numbers and talked briefly about each.

Mrs. Elwood Taylor, entertained the group with three musical readings about fishing, love and housecleaning in the spring. She was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Hall.

During the business session Miss Mattie Benson's room and Miss H. Bakka's fourth grade received the awards for the most number of parents present. The teachers reported that they had purchased either first aid kits or more room library books with the award money each had received during the year.

THORNGREENS
FASHION SHOWPresentation Was Well Received

Manistique's annual style show, held for the benefit of the Schoolcraft county chapter of the American Cancer Society, was presented to a nearly capacity crowd at the high school auditorium Thursday evening.

The very latest in spring and summer garments, sold at Manistique stores, were displayed.

SOCIAL

Birthday Anniversary

Mrs. Amanda Ferriek entertained a group of friends at her home on Thursday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Five hundred and rummy were played with prizes going to Mrs. Henry Gauthier, high, and Mrs. Bert Zucca second in five hundred, and in rummy Mrs. Gene Brown received high. Mrs. Victor Beaudry received the special award. A delicious lunch was served later. Mrs. Ferriek received many lovely gifts from her guests who were: Mesdames Napoleon LaLonde, Rose Boudreau, Gene Brown, Bert Zucca, Victor Beaudry, Louis Beaudry, Denver McBurney, Sherman Dewey, Gregor MacGregor, Henry Gauthier, Archie Murphy, James Gierke and Miss Iele Watson.

The first people to devote themselves chiefly to commerce were the Phoenicians, who developed their fishing boats into a commercial fleet.

Turtles, members of the reptile family, are primarily meat-eating although a few are herbivorous.

local women and children serving as models. The display was made effective by a beautiful stage setting representing a doorway leading out into an attractive garden with trees, shrubbery and a profusion of real flowers from the Manistique florists giving naturalness to the scene. Very effective floodlighting added to the general effectiveness. In a sheltered bowyer, partially hidden from view, was the orchestra, composed of Norman Martin, Carl Olson and Miss June Christensen.

An innovation, adding variety and a quaint touch to the program, was the showing of a number of garments which were in vogue nearly sixty years ago. The dresses were among the personal belongings of the late Mrs. A. S. Putnam.

Mrs. Gordon Hughes, as narrator, introduced the models as they appeared upon the stage and gave a descriptive account of the material, color, design and appropriateness of each garment for the occasion intended.

In addition to music by the string ensemble, which was played continuously while the models were appearing, there were special vocal numbers by J. Earl Cousineau, the Barber Shop Quartette and accordion solos by Janet Dixner.

The revue was under the direction of Miss Pat Lundstrom.

After the exhibition, short talks relative to the cancer fund drive were made by Russell Watson and Dr. E. J. Brenner.

A collection at the door provided a generous addition to the local cancer drive fund, about $150 being donated.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our sincere appreciation and thanks to all of our relatives and friends who assisted us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved father. We are very thankful to Rev. Clifford Peterson for his comforting words, to those who served as pallbearers, furnished their cars, sent floral offerings and to all those who helped us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.

FEW REGISTER TO NOON TODAY

Have Until 8 p. m. For School Registration

One hundred and three Escanaba citizens had registered as school electors to noon today, a number that is expected to grow as registrations continue through the day until the closing hour of 8 p. m.

The registrations by city school precincts to noon are as follows:

First school precinct, includes first, second, third and eighth city precincts, 70; Second school precinct, includes fourth, fifth and sixth city precincts, 25; Third school precinct, comprising the eighth city precinct, 8.

The first school precinct registration place is at city hall; the second at Jefferson school; and the third North Escanaba fire station, Sheridan road.

Citizens who have not yet registered as school electors must register if they are to vote in the Escanaba school election of June 13. At that time two trustees to the board of education will be elected.

So far three persons have announced they will be candidates. They are: A. D. LaBranche, incumbent; Paul Vardigan, and Mrs. Norman L. Lindquist.

Free Press Treaty Wins UN Approval

Pact Becomes Problem For Newsmen Of U.S.

By WILLIAM L. PHILLIPS

New York, May 14 (AP)—The United Nations assembly approved early today the world's first proposed treaty affecting press freedom, and thereby set a problem for the press of the United States.

The pact is entitled "Convention on the International Transmission of News and the Right of Correction."

U. S. Delegate Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, told reporters just before dawn the question now is whether the U. S. really wants to join it.

Canham said the U. S. Press and News distributors would have to decide.

Only the Russian-dominated Slav bloc opposed the pact in a final vote shortly before 2 a. m. (EST), ending a marathon debate which began yesterday morning.

The roll call showed 33 nations in favor, six against, 13 abstentions and seven countries absent.

Provisions in twenty-three articles of the proposed treaty would extend to news, radio and film correspondents in all countries adhering to the convention the rights and privileges they now enjoyed in the U. S. and other democracies.

The terms also provide for an international right-of-correction for the first time in history.

Under this, a member country could ask another member government to deliver to news agencies in its territory corrective replies to news the first country considered injurious to it.

The pact will not be open for signatures for several months.

State Money Bills Lined Up For Trimming

berry State Hospital—$410,000 for generator and equipment and service building unit; Northville State Hospital—$2,750,000 for a clinic hospital unit of more than 500 rapid treatment beds; Pontiac State Hospital—$50,000 for boiler equipment; Traverse City State Hospital—$850,000 for power plant tunnels and cold storage plant.

Marquette Prison—$270,000 for inside cell block.

Michigan College of Mining and Technology—$610,000 for heating plant; Central Michigan College of Education—$682,125 for physical education building; Northern Michigan College of Education—$460,000 for library; School for the Blind—$400,000 for service building; School for the Deaf—$50,000 for dormitory.

Adrian Girls School—$50,000 for sewage treatment plant and water line.

Also included were $1,290,400 worth of repair items at institutions.

The House approved quietly an $82,094,203 appropriation for public schools. It compares with $70,291,776 this year, the increase resulting automatically from the operation of the sales tax diversion amendment.

COLLEGES GET BOOSTS

Lansing, May 14 (AP)—As the $28,734,402 education bill passed the House yesterday, the following amounts were appropriated for state supported colleges:

University of Michigan $10,988,315, compared with $9,750,000 this year.

Michigan State College $3,934,190, compared with $8,065,000 this year.

Michigan College of Mining and Technology $1,533,281, compared with $1,452,062 this year.

Central Michigan College of Education $1,165,086, compared with $1,086,099 this year.

Michigan State Normal College $1,427,033, compared with $1,291,192 this year.

Northern Michigan College of Education $592,425, compared with $526,890 this year.

Western Michigan College of Education $1,611,130, compared with $1,669,673 this year.

OBITUARY

JOSEPH SCHAFER

Funeral services for Joseph Schafer of Nahma were held at 9 a. m., today from St. Andrew church in Nahma with the Rev. James Schafer officiating. Burial was made in Nahma cemetery.

pallbearers were Edward Sheed, John Turek, Clarence Menary, Al Hescott, George Miller and Victor Thibault.

Among out-of-town persons attending the services were Mrs. Ivan Marlowe and son Max of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Beauchamp and Kathryn, Jean and Bob Beauchamp of Escanaba, and Martin and Jerry Klutina of Meadowland, Minn.

British Labor Party Remains In Saddle

Conservative Ballot Gain Not Too Significant

By WILLIAM OATIS

London, May 14 (AP)—The trouncing victories scored by Conservatives over the candidates of Britain's governing Labor party in local elections this week may be less significant than they seem.

Many observers on both sides say the results can not be interpreted as evidence that the Conservatives necessarily will recapture control in next year's parliamentary elections. This despite the fact both sides campaigned with 1950 in mind.

Labor, which has been in the saddle since 1945, still has a good chance to stay there, they say.

The British Press Association announced these final unofficial returns from voting for Borough councils:

Of 4,693 seats at stake in the various councils, Conservatives took 1,856, Labor 1,778, Independents 941, Liberals 107 and Communists 11.

This was a net gain of 805 for the Conservatives and a net loss of 715 for Labor.

Labor lost six of London's 28 borough councils but kept control of 17. It previously held 23.

London's council seats went 739 to Labor, 616 to Conservatives, 11 to Communists and four to Independents. This was a net gain of 269 for the Conservatives and a net loss of 262 for Labor.

DEATH CLAIMS ENSIGN FARMER

Carl Wickstrom, 64, Is Stricken Today Noon

Carl Wickstrom, 64, farmer of near Ensign, died at noon today a few minutes before he was received at St. Francis hospital by ambulance from Gladstone, where he had received emergency treatment.

Members of the Wickstrom family reported they saw Mr. Wickstrom coming out of a garage in apparent agony about 8:30 o'clock this morning. Some of an acid that had been in a container in the garage was missing, and the family believe he had taken some of it while in despondency over the illness of a son, George.

Rushed to Gladstone where he was given emergency treatment, Mr. Wickstrom was then taken to the hospital in Escanaba but was dead on arrival. Death was reported as caused by a heart attack and shock.

Born in Sweden, Mr. Wickstrom came to this country while in his 20's and has farmed at Ensign for many years.

Surviving are his widow, Thruston Wickstrom of Munising; George, at home; Mrs. George Weberg and Mrs. Sandy Gustafson of Ensign; two brothers, Albin and Ole of Rapid River, and a sister, Mrs. Alfred Lundberg of Ensign.

The body is at the Kelley funeral home, Gladstone. It will be taken to Calvary Lutheran church, Rapid River, at 1 p. m. Monday, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Rapid River cemetery.

Danville Newspaper Editors Quit After State Payroll Purge

Rochester, N. Y., (AP)—Gannett newspaper headquarters has announced the resignation of three members of the staff of the Danville, Ill., Commercial News.

The three are Carl M. Davidson, executive editor; Robert C. Page, advertising manager; and Robert C. Poissal, sports editor. They were among 51 Illinois newspapermen reported by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News as having been on the state payroll under Dwight H. Green, formerly Republican governor.

They previously confirmed they had worked for the state. Tabulations by the newspapers said Davidson was paid $6,640 for two years as a field investigator in the state labor department; that Pace received $2,625 as a messenger clerk in the highway division for two years; and that Poissal was carried as a labor department field investigator and later as a clerk in the office of public instruction receiving $6,785 pay.

The two newspapers reported that a total of $475,000 was paid to newspapermen during the Green administration.

All three men declined comment on their resignations.

Connie Mack Says This May Not Be Big Year After All

Philadelphia, May 14 (AP)—The collapse of his "invincible" pitching staff set Connie Mack to wondering today whether, after all, 1949 is to be the year for that "one more pennant."

A month ago a Chipper Mack let it be known he thought that his Philadelphia Athletics could win the American league pennant this year.

He had good reason to be elated. Phil Marchildon was in great shape, Dick Fowler had burned up the Grapefruit circuit and everybody knew what Joe Coleman and Lou Brissie could do with a baseball.

The club started out all right. The pitching was shaky, but a surprisingly powerful hitting attack carried the A's through.

But then, quite suddenly the roof fell in.

Marchildon injured his arm. Fowler was re-stricken with buritis. And Coleman and Brissie quit winning ball games.

The A's start a long home stand today after an unhappy road trip in which they won only twice in eight games. The A's are buried in sixth place with a won-lost record of 11-13, their poorest in three years.

The 86-year-old Mack says "I'm confident" the club will pull out of its slump. But he knows, as do all baseball fans, that if the A's pitchers don't start winning, the club may end up deep in the second division.

Diplomatic Boycott Of Spain Near Vote

Proposal To Lift Ban Considered By UN

By ROBERT HEWETT

New York, May 14 (AP)—The Latin American drive to lift the two-year-old diplomatic boycott on Franco Spain neared a final vote in the U. N. general assembly today.

It was anybody's guess whether the move to ease the United Nations restriction on the Franco regime would squeak through.

A two-thirds vote of the 59-nation assembly is required to lift the U. N. ban under which member states were advised to withdraw their ambassadors and ministers from Madrid in December, 1946.

After heated debate last week the assembly's political committee recommended the move by a vote of 25 to 16—seven votes short of the two-thirds majority needed for final approval by the assembly.

Sixteen nations, including the United States, Britain and France, abstained.

The U. S. has announced it will continue to abstain from voting. Latin American supporters have been campaigning all week to try to win over other nations which had declined to vote in the committee.

Poland has led the fight against lifting the ban. During the debate Slav bloc speakers accused the United States and Britain of seeking privately to win votes for the Latin-American measure—a charge denied by both American and British delegates.

The Gophers gained a 4-2 record by downing the Wildcats 8-5 yesterday in the series opener. Harry Elliott paced a 13-hit attack with three singles and a homer.

The win left the Gophers one game behind leading Purdue which is idle in conference competition this week.

Jap Coal Diggers Protest Pay Cut; 420,000 On Strike

Tokyo, May 14 (AP)—The National Federation of Coal Miners today announced its 420,000 members went on strike at midnight throughout Japan.

The 48-hour strike is in protest to an attempt by mine operators to reduce wages about 20 percent.

A union leader said other labor groups—including railway workers and seamen—would meet Monday to enlist support for the coal strike.

BRIEFLY TOLD

Returns—Albert E. Taylor jr., has returned from Hartford, Conn., where he attended an eight week course of instruction in fire and casualty, fidelity, surety bonding, and burglary and inland marine insurance.

City councilmen, Earl Frechette, general chairman of clean-up, paint-up and fix-up week and chiefs of the police and fire departments expressed general satisfaction with the amount of progress made here this week in the first post-war clean-up campaign.

The groups toured the city today in special police cars to inspect progress and improvements.

"Home-owners, city departments, and business establishments cooperated with the committee and helped us do a great deal toward making Escanaba cleaner and better-looking," Frechette said this noon.

"Next year we plan a more extensive clean-up campaign," he added.

Damage Mounts High In Holland Tunnel Disaster

frameworks into an almost solid wall of wreckage.

Mess Ankle Deep

Their cargoes of meat, rags, chemicals, butter and eggs were stewed into a thick, stinking mess. It lay ankle deep on the floor of the tunnel's eastbound tube, through which vehicles travel from Jersey City to Lower Manhattan.

Panic-stricken private motorists abandoned their cars and stumbled for the tunnel exits, handkerchiefs clutched to their smarting eyes.

However, workmen said no private cars were destroyed in the blast area.

Great chunks of cement dropped from the tunnel's inner walls, imperiling rescue workers.

The sickening gray chemical cloud thrust ragged edges into the adjacent westbound Manhattan-to-Jersey tube. It was closed for five hours. It reopened later for two-way traffic.

Telephone, television, radio and press cables melted away in the heat and darkness of the eastbound tube. The American Telephone and Telegraph Co. called it the worst communications failure in its history.

No Crack In Tube

Phone service from New York to Jersey City went out with the destruction of a 900-circuit cable. Half the long distance circuits to the west and south were out for hours.

Although weakened, the tunnel failed to crack. Fire boats skimmed the river surface during the fire, seeking tell-tale bubbles that might indicate a leak.

The tunnel, two miles long and 93 feet under the Hudson, was completed in 1927. It cost $48,400,000 and is insured for $60,000,000. The port of New York authority said damage would run from $500,000 to $1,000,000.

Its outer shell is of cast iron nearly two inches thick, curving beneath the silt of the river bed. A six-foot air duct connects the iron shell with an inner tube of concrete five inches thick. An inch-thick inner surfacing is of reinforced concrete and tile.

The 16-ton trailer truck that exploded was carrying 80 drums, each containing 55 gallons of carbon disulphide. It is used to make rayon, vulcanize rubber, as an insecticide and as a paint and varnish remover. It burns easily and is poisonous when concentrated.

The tiger is terrifically strong but rarely attacks groups of armed men. However, it frequently preys upon women and children.
